Bruno: Johnson Is Best Candidate

Saratoga Springs – A former Skidmore student and one of the area’s most prominent state senators is supporting a longtime city resident for the city’s top post, announced the Saratoga County Republican Party Thursday morning.

Scott T. Johnson, a candidate for Saratoga Springs Mayor, has received the backing and support of state Senator Joe Bruno.

“Scott Johnson is committed to making this great city a better place to work, live and raise a family,” said Bruno. “I have the utmost confidence in Scott and know that he will serve in the best interests of all the city residents. His volunteer work and tireless efforts on behalf of children is an example of what he can accomplish for the entire city.”

Bruno’s support follows Johnson’s announcement on Wednesday that he will not take a salary, but rather donate the money to create a GED program aimed at assisting the underprivileged in their pursuit of an education.

“It is gratifying to have the support of one of the most influential leaders not only in our district, but throughout the state,” said Johnson. “If elected, I promise to work closely with Sen. Bruno on issues that affect the people that call Saratoga Springs their home.”

The general election takes place on Tuesday.
